Mac shared his love of the outdoors with his family through the many hikes, camping trips, and trips to the beach cabin. He was a woodworking master craftsman, creating many beautiful pieces of furniture, along with special wooden toys like boats, trains, planes, and logging trucks for his grandchildren. Mac was always an avid bowler, and he grew to love the game of golf after retirement. Along with golf, Mac and Wanda became devoted campers, and were part of the Camp Seekers group spending time together every month with many trips focused around bowling tournaments and events. They grew very close to these special friends.

His legacy lives on in those left to cherish his memory which include his loving wife, Wanda MacDaniels; children, Karen Helen Hooper (Gary), Clifford Nye MacDaniels (Rose), Kenneth
